EW SCHEMES FOR ALLEGHENY CITY

The publication vesterday of an anouncement that three charters had been canted for passenger railways for the East and, covering routes over Forbes, Hiland, arion, Sheridan avenues and other streets and quite a stir, especially in connection ith the project announced sometime ago of charter for an electric railway on Diamond rect, when the latter thoroughfare is opened. The prevailing supposition is that it is in iew of the incorporators of these several nes to operate them together. The same atcrest, and to some extent the same names, eing represented on the list of charter rembers gives color to this presumption, and was taken as indicating that, before long, and was taken as indicating that, before long. eing represented on the list of charter iembers gives color to this presumption, at was taken as indicating that, before long, night cars be had from the city there may be nother continuous line to the East and Following is the report from Larrieburg in an evening cotemporary:

The East End Railroad Company, of Pitts-urg, capital $5,000, has been granted a charter, be route will be six miles long, beginning at the orner of Washington street and Elisworth avenue, by Washington street and Elisworth avenue, to liarton, to Forbes street, to place toes are to Storighting. The directors are H. S. A. Stewart, ohn F. Steel, James A. McDevitt, Charles H. Mccoe and A. M. Neeper.

A charter was also granted to the Forbes treet Railway Company, of Pittsburg, capital $3,000, it will be seven miles long, beginning at orbes street to Barton street. The directors are L. Magee, George L. Whitney, George Rice, H. A. Stewart and F. L. Stephenson.

Also to the Hiland avenue Railway Company, of Pittsburg, capital $3,000, the line to be four illesiong, beginning at the Hiland avenue Railway Company, of Pittsburg, capital $3,000, the line to be four illesiong, beginning at the Hiland avenue Railway Company, of Pittsburg, capital $3,000, the line to be four illesiong, beginning at the Hiland avenue Railway Company, of Pittsburg, capital $3,000, the line to be four illesiong, beginning at the Hiland avenue Railway Company, of Pittsburg, capital $3,000, the line to be four illesiong, beginning at the Hiland avenue Railway Company, of Pittsburg, capital $3,000, the line to be four illesiong, beginning at the Hiland avenue Railway Company, of Pittsburg, capital $3,000, the line to be four illesiong, beginning at the Hiland avenue Railway Company, of Pittsburg, capital $3,000, the line to be four illesions, beginning at the Hiland avenue Railway Company, of Pittsburg, capital $3,000, the line to be four illesions, beginning at the Hiland avenue Railway Company, of Pittsburg, capital $3,000, the line to be four illesions, beginning at the H

It was not an easy matter for the reporte o sought information as to the details of th rogramme to get it precisely, particularly as o the Forbes Street Railway, which begins out t Boyd street. The presumption in regard to hat was that if the electric line on Diamond treet succeeded in getting rights along Dia-nond and Forbes, it would connect with the sthers at Boyu street, and that all would be nerged into one large corporation.

ALONG FORBES STREET. "It will be a good thing for the East End," ald one gentleman concerned last evening, "as he more communication the better, People ion't seem to like to walk in these days even hort distances, and this bringing of East End property so close to the business part of Pitts-property so close to the business part of Pittsburg by different modes of communication canbut help if if the scheme can be carried out.

Many people will be drawn to the East End
from the farther suburbs."

There were others, however, who were not so confident of the enterprise getting through. A resident on Forbes street said there would be active and organized opposition to the granting of the right of way on the ground that one unobstructed highway from the East End to the city should be left open for driving purposes, other opinions were in rather funny conflict in relation to the standing of the Pittsburg Traction road with respect to the move. One man held that the lines if lutit separately, without communication, to the business part of the city, would help the traction by operating as feeders to it; but that if united with a road from Diamond street would greatly diminish the traction's source of business. There were, on the other hand, reports that the Traction Company was interested in talking up the possible competitive route, but these apparently had no foundation whatsoever, as an officer of the traction said last night that the company had no part in the charters, and that mere charters did not conferright of way anyhow. The general impression among these who are lambliar with the local passenger railway interests is that a continuous new line from the Market House is in view, but that the getting of the rights of way from the city will occupy too much time, if it indeed he feasible, and that so many objections would have to be met that no active operations could be looked for during the present year. Meanwhile, from all the signs, the further evolution of the plan will be looked for with keen interest.

A new company is buying rights of way for electric railways over the Evergreen plank road and the Butchers' Run plank road. In the suburbs of Allegheny. The purpose is to reach the West View and Perrysville regions, which are fast building up. The electric road in Allegheny now run by the Pleasant Valley is to be met by this projected line at the forks of the upper and lower Perrysville road, or, as is locally known, at John Born's.

The publication of the Allegheny Traction Company's plans in THE Disparch started much gussip yesterday. The alleged consolidation of all Allegheny lines inferred from the traction plans, now embraces: The Pittsburg, Allegheny and Manchester, the Allegheny Rapid Transit Company, the City Bridge Company, the Trans-Allegheny Passenger Railway Company, the Transverse Passenger Railway Company, and last, but by no means least, the Federal Street and Pleasant Valley Passenger Railway Company, company. Commodore Kountr is a heavy stockholder who is said to be not yet in favor of the consolidation.

flood. The conversation was about the sad drowning of popular "Johnnie" Stitt during drowning of popular "Johnnie" Stitt during the excitement at Blairsville on the memorable Friday night, when efforts were being made by the people there to save persons floating down the Conemaugh river. When printed the next day the interview appeared as though Mrs. Shields had said Johnnie Stitt saved zeveral lives before he himself was drowned.

This was a mistake. Young Stitt saved no lives, and Mrs. Shields did not say so. Her interview, which was sought by the reporter, was possibly confused with the utterances of other persons. No lives at all were saved at Blairsville, but about 20 corpses were recovered there and interred in the cemetery. Stitt's heroism was in the quickness and coolness with which he fulfilled orders given him at the railroad shops to take a headlight down to the river and place it in a position where it would light up the dark river and enable rescuers to work. It was while thus engaged that he lost his life. Mrs. Shields was not responsible for the seeming exaggeration.

workmen there, who ran into the street to see what caused the trouble. This last demonstration frightened the Italians, and in the twinkle of an eye the air was filled with brickbats, stones, clubs and pistol balls.

The police got there about this time, and the mill men, owing to their knowledge of the topography, escaped; but three Italians, Philip Valire, Louis Lambert and Frank Menial, were chucked into the Fourteenth ward station house and assessed $5 and costs or 30 days to the workhouse by Magistrate Hyndman. Two people were supposed to be seriously hurt. They did not proclaim it and their friends evidently didn't want to demand any satisfaction.

Its Novel Use in Research for Natural Gas and Oil Wells. The Fuel Gas and Electric Engineering Company is now introducing a Sigsbee watercup in the searchings for natural gas and oil wells, the watercup yesterday, that he had no doubt it would prove a valuable acquisition in research for natural gas.

"The Sigsbee watercup," the doctor stated, "was invented by Licutenant Sigsbee to be used in ocean researches, and it is a very unique device for obtaining water, or, for that matter, any fluid from any degth and examining it. The watercup will have to be slightly modified by us to make it applicable for our nurposes. The watercup will have to be slightly modified by us to make it applicable for our purposes; but its results will be advantageous."

The watercup sent to the Electric Engineer-ing Company is from the well-known steamer Jeannette, which was sent on a cruise to the North Pole and the expenses of which were paid by James Gordon Bennett.
